UPPER SANDUSKY, OHIO

SEPT. 13 TO 16, 1921

Come on over and see the many changes that have taken place during the past year, you will hardly know the old place any more.

We now have a property consisting of fifty-seven acres and it is filled to overflowing with many new buildings and a treated city containing the best exhibit we ever had.

New Race Track

And OH BOY, it's a dandy. "The best race track in Ohio" is the verdict of the race horse men after they have taken a jog around the saucer and along the ring side is our NEW GRAND STAND where you can sit and watch a good race for two bits and see the ponies go all the way around with not a single thing to obstruct your view. And believe me, we have the horses, not "my kind of horse," but a first mortgage to know what to do with them all.

Here is our program:

CHURCH SOCIETY

Special Meetings.

Interest is increasing at the spe-

Evangelist Edwin L. Cain of Councilus, at the First Christian church,

Moral Leper," was taken from II Kings 5:1-14 and is the story of the cleansing of Naaman from leprosy.

"Completely obeying the command of Elisha to go and dip seven times in the river Jordan made him clean" the evangelist said. "The same is true today as then, we must completely obey the commands of our Master before we can be cleansed of sin."

Tonight's subject will be "Is One Church Possible," and will be of interest to members of all denominations.

SOCIETY

Mrs. James A. McMurray had her home on east Church street beautifully decorated with roses, feverfew, heliotrope, marigolds and other flowers from the garden, this morning for her pretty breakfast party, at which she entertained Miss Harriet Hoover and the young ladies of her bridal party.

On the veranda and throughout the home, baskets and bowls held clusters of the flowers and in the dining room the garden bloom was arranged most attractively. The table, at which a company of ten was seated, was unique in its adornment, carrying out original ideas of the hostess.

Through the center of the table was a miniature of Miss Hoover's bridal party. Little dolls, representing the members of the party, were daintily dressed in different colors, carrying out a rainbow effect. Each doll wore a hat and carried an arm bouquet of tiny flowers and the little bride wore a veil and carried a bouquet. There was the matron of honor, the maid of honor, four bridesmaids, the little ring bearer carrying a tiny ring on a tray; the little flower girl with a basket of flowers and with some of the blossoms strewn behind her; and the bride, with whom was the man who was to give her away. Lastly came the train-bearer carrying the bride's train. Circling the tiny procession, which extended almost the length of the table, was a wreathlike arrangement of tiny marigolds, feverfew, heliotrope and sweetpeas. The menu was also carried out in the rainbow tints.

During the serving of the breakfast Miss C. L. Rutherford sang songs appropriate to the occasion and Mrs. H. K. Mouser accompanied her. Mrs. Linus L. Strock assisted the hostess in entertaining and Mrs. Charlotte McMurray and Miss Charlotte Johnson served.

Another of the many bridal parties the past few weeks for Miss Harriet Hoover and Miss Mary Anderson was that of yesterday afternoon by Miss Katherine Sweeney, who entertained at her home on south Prospect street.

The tea tables were beautifully trimmed with baskets of lovely garden bloom and dainty place cards marked covers for twenty-three young ladies. Nut baskets, little wedding bells and roses in pink and white, were the favors.

Guests from a distance were Mrs. Paul Moore, of Huntington, Indiana, and Miss Loreta Bolinger, of Seymour, Indiana, guests for the wedding of Miss Hoover and Mr. Bennett Bindley, Thursday evening.

The guests at the home of Mrs. J. L. Hoover, who have already arrived for the marriage of her daughter, Miss Harriet Hoover and Mr. Bennett Bindley, Thursday evening at 8:30 o'clock at the First Presbyterian church, are Mrs. Walter Ford, of Indianapolis, Miss Margaret Walters, of Indianapolis, one of the bridesmaids; Mrs. Paul Moore, of Huntington, Indiana, a sister of the bride who is to be matron of honor; Miss Loreta Bolinger, of Seymour, Indiana, one of the bridesmaids, and Mr. Harold Hawisher, of Lima, one of the ushers. Mrs. Hoover will entertain the bridal party at dinner this evening at her home on south Main street.

Mrs. Dwight McCleary, of Buffalo, entertained at a six o'clock dinner Tuesday evening at the home of her mother, Mrs. Julia A. Harmon, of Garden street. Covers were laid for fourteen including Dr. and Mrs. D. W. Cox and sons, of Wilmore, Kentucky; Mrs. Bernice Riddle, of Delaware, and Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Riddle.

About forty couples attended the informal dance given by the Jolly Jaxters at Schwinger's hall Tuesday night. Sammy Stewart's five piece orchestra from Columbus furnished the music.

The hosts and hostesses for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Jay Marsh, Mr. and Mrs. Damon Gathery, Mr. and Mrs. Grant E. Mouser, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. John Connery and Messrs. Mitchell Cleary, Foster Phillips, Henry Ackerman, Jr., Elmer Fetter, Douglas Fell and Russell McCannan.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Moore, of Huntington, Indiana; Miss Margaret Walters, of Indianapolis, and Mr. Harold Hawisher, of Lima, who are here for the Hoover-Bindley wedding, and Mr. Robert Bowman, of Upper Sandusky.

Miss Mildred Bolander entertained a company of friends at a winter roast, Tuesday evening, at her home on the Kenton place. The guests were Messrs. Helen Richardson, Margaret Haas, Ruth Ellen Overly, Gladys Williams, Florence Bauman, Lulu McGinty, Zelva Swindler, Elma McDaniels, Marguerite Conklin, Mrs. M. L. McDaniels and Mrs. T. J. Balenger chaperoned the party.

PROVING DANIEL BOONE.

Some doubt that Daniel Boone ever lived. But his grandson died recently in Ellensburg, Washington. Those who have doubted that there ever was a Daniel Boone, now should be convinced. It's all a matter of logic. If Daniel Boone's grandson is dead, he must have had a father or mother or both—surely both. And one of these twins must have been the son or daughter, as the case may be, of Daniel Boone. And if Daniel Boone had either a son or daughter, there must have been a Daniel Boone. Ergo, there was a Daniel Boone.

THE ALASKAN PESSIMIST.

Alaska's diminishing population is an unfortunate phenomenon to which the United States government is already giving earnest attention. One traveler just returned from the territory reports among many of the natives with whom he worked a state of mind that would seem to make an even further shrinkage probable. The permanent population consists largely of "scum doughs," and the sour doughs seem to be bad boosters.

Some of these old timers justify their pessimism by pointing to the native interest in federal appointments, which this year was intense. Nowadays political appointments and salaries, which in bonanza days Alaskans were too busy to look at, are much coveted. Office holding is actually becoming a serious industry, formerly an unheard-of thing for Alaska.

Others have more specific reasons for pessimism. They count the possibility of important new gold strikes in ground so thoroughly prospected. They deny that coal exists in profitable quantities. Even the much-touted timber industry does not encounter the sour doughs. Prominent the remainder more flourishing than nourishing they emphatically refuse to be content with a paradise of reindeer and Christmas trees.

No doubt there is a sufficient answer to the pessimism of the sour doughs not only in the existing copper mines and fisheries, but in the oil, the forests and agriculture which remain as yet largely unexploited. But it is apparent that new blood and new capital must be attracted to Alaska. The prerequisite to this would seem to be a careful and scientific inventory of the possibilities for newcomers, followed by earnest enlightenment of the facts thus established.

Jim Doubts If They'd Be Worth Keeping

SOPHISTRY AND INNOCENCE.

A sinner can confound a saint and an infant still the tongue of a sage, but that is not because a sinner is superior to the saint nor that a child has greater knowledge than a person of wisdom, but because sophistry and innocence so often are unanswerable.

One may easily arrive at a false conclusion from wrong premises, and when the premises are presented quickly it may be impossible at the moment to discover their flaws. Usually these have to be studied a bit before they become apparent, and it is impossible to give immediate contradiction to the argument.

And so it is, also, that a child with only the sparsest reasoning ability may easily disturb one of great learning by a question that none, however wise, can answer.

The next time somebody puts an argument before you that you can not answer readily, instead of becoming panic-stricken and making the wrong kind of reply, request time for reflection, and if the argument be fallacious, rest assured that it can be overthrown.

"CARRY ON, AMERICANS!"

[Cincinnati Enquirer.]

The speech of the postmaster general to the National Association of Life Insurance Underwriters, at Cleveland, is a paean of optimism. And, quite aside from the fact that it is an illuminative commendatory review of the achievements of the administration to date, it is replete with sensible suggestions altogether uninspired by any partisan bias or prejudice.

Mr. Hays seems to understand the inestimable value of humanness as applied to business practice and conduct.

Looking forward, the postmaster general sees the "greatest era of expansion and progress that the world has seen." With others who never have lost heart because of the depressions resultant from the war, he pleads for the common sense of courage and confidence.

That is the right slogan. As he interprets it, it means: "Carry on, Americans!" We are to go to meet discontent, to discover exact justice and demand it for all men, and each to look well to industry, thrift and moral responsibility.

Here are the essential elements of a fine sermon on broad economics. Very simple indeed, but all embracing. The country should follow Mr. Hays' advice. He sensibly suggests the stripping of the treasury department of all except its necessary fiscal functions. It long has seemed to students of our system that the treasury department scarcely is the place for, let us say for example, the information of rules regulating the sale of beer as a medicine.

The immensity of the business of his own department is referred to by Mr. Hays. It truly is the greatest among the big business enterprises in the world, and he is to be pardoned for self-gratulation over what has been accomplished in its management since his incumbency in office. It is not too much to say that the public already has been made aware of material improvement in this department. And it will think none the less of the postmaster general because he divides all credit therewith with his 30,000 employees, of whom he speaks as his "partners."

Equally sound is Mr. Hays in his suggestions with reference to changes in our system of taxation, "which works against the man who is trying to accumulate a competence."

LIFE'S VAUDEVILLE.

[By Dr. James Ball Naylor.]

WHAT DOES LIBERTY REALLY MEAN?

It doesn't—can't mean license.

Liberty is law-abiding.

License is law-breaking.

Liberty has due respect for the rights of others; license has no such respect.

Liberty grants equal opportunities and privileges to all; license demands special opportunities and privileges for the few.

Liberty recognizes justice, mercy and charity. License knows only force.

Liberty would gain its ends by peaceful means; license would gain its ends by any means available—sabotage, incendiarism, revolution or mob murder.

I have said repeatedly—and say it once again—all must have equal rights in a free land. Righteous law grants the individual the privilege of using poison for the destruction of vermin, rodents and other pests. Also, it grants freedom of speech to the individual and freedom of publication to the press. But it doesn't, and shouldn't, grant any one the privilege of poisoning the physical being of his fellows; and it doesn't, and shouldn't, grant any one the privilege of poisoning the minds of his fellows. Advocacy of license is an insidious poison which, instilled, into the minds of laboring men, causes them to see red and run amuck. I don't believe in abridging the freedom of speech or the freedom of the press; but I do believe in suppressing incendiary individuals or publications that boldly or slyly advise in favor of violation of the law—destruction of property, hindrance of business, or physical injury or death.

Liberty and license are in no sense and to no extent related.

Every American should be granted the fullest liberty under the law; but no person should be granted the slightest license beyond the law.

The individual who advises the commission of crime is as guilty as the individual who commits crime.

The organization that condones crime is as guilty as the criminals themselves.

And the sooner we recognize these patent and potent truths, and begin to act in accordance with them—the better for America.

able. They take and permit liberties of behavior with young men which violate the code which she has accepted as sacred. They "have a line," and know how to "jass it up"; she has been brought up to observe limits of speech and action. So this girl is bewildered. She does not want to be a "frump," a "kill-joy," a "sad-bird," for she is light-hearted, pleasure-loving, normal young person.

That girl's plight embodies the problem of today. The world is a jungle of conflicting codes and customs. Since the war, many ancient boundaries and landmarks have been removed. Barriers are down. A real social revolution has taken place. All the ancient practices and proprieties are now hedged about with question marks. In individual conduct as in international affairs, the accepted standards seem to be in the melting pot. There is not a young person out in active life who is not puzzled as to what course to follow in print and in conversation on the motion-picture screen and on the stage as well as in the contemporary life mirrored by the newspaper. Youth finds much that runs squarely counter to the teachings of home and church. There is a sort of moral and social and spiritual Bolshevism in the air. The Russian code of individual conduct has spread more widely and rapidly than the Russian political and economic doctrines.

An Ugly Old Picture.
There is no use in wringing our hands over present conditions, or thanking God that we are not as others are. That is sheer pharisaism. First, we must face the facts, with clear and open vision. Then we need to ascertain whether they are altogether unique in our time worse than all other times? Are we really going to the dogs? Do our modern titles as some fervid critics declare surpass Sodom and Gomorrah? Having confronted actual conditions we are bound next to find a way out. And here we have opportunity, a Sunday-school lesson which is pertinent as it made to order for this very month of September 1934.

Thrust into the midst of the course of historical studies in the life of Paul we have this fragment from one of his letters.

We shall be considering, two weeks hence, the city and the people to which it was addressed. Now there is before us the second of three known letters by Paul to the church at Corinth. The first is lost. The present one is a tonic for our times. Its reading will stiffen up our loose thinking upon moral questions. It really was written to combat certain evils which had arisen in the young church, such as strife and partisanship and immorality. The letter has almost uncanny contemporary value, as it depicts the evils of a church led aside into incidentals and eccentricity of doctrine, to the neglect of the primal simplicity of the faith preached by Paul.

It is an ugly picture of the Corinthian church that this letter paints. We are in the habit of assuming that those early Christians, of Bible times, were exemplary disciples. Far from it. There were contumacious saints in Corinth, quite as we find them in our own churches. There were fantastic and fanatical folk who stressed "the second blessing" and the "gift of tongues" while neglecting love and good works. Rich Corinthian Christians were setting themselves up above their poorer brethren. Worse yet, there were members who were living in open unchastity. One man, to the shame even of the heathen was living in sin with his step-mother. The nerve of mortal conviction in the church in Corinth had been paralyzed, and at the same time schism and suspicion and back-biting and doctrinal idiosyncrasies abounded. There is a certain kind of encouragement for us in the historical fact that this apostolic church was farther off from the Christian standard than any Christian congregation that we could find today.

As It Was of Old.
Once I heard a missionary tell of the pleasure his converts had in the Book of Acts because those early Christians were so like themselves!

Much Suffering Caused by Waste Products in the Blood

What Science Knows About the Matter and How It Is Best Treated

The blood is more important than any of the organs. It is thru the blood that the whole human body is directly or indirectly nourished. The blood gets its nourishment from the intestines. The intestines also contain waste products—undigested foods, acids, gases and refuse, which sometimes get in the blood.

When waste products get in the blood, nature will strive to cast them out. If your resistance is strong enough, nature will probably succeed. But if you are "washed out," weak, run-down, and nervous, nature will begin to show signs of distress.

As a result, you will have that feeling of fatigue. You will lack the energy you need for the day's duties and pleasure. Minor ailments will begin to affect you—pimples, blackheads and boils.

If the waste products are not gotten out of the blood at this point, it is possible a more serious skin eruption or disease will begin to show itself. It is not infrequent for

We read the Bible from our own Christian background. As heirs of centuries of Christian teaching and tradition, we have outgrown much of the creases of the worldliness which the early church knew. Heathendom surrounded them. The very air they breathed was tainted with idolatry.

In a dozen ways, and every day, paganism thrust itself into the life and thought. What about observing heathen holidays? Should they bow to the emperor's portrait or image—a current question in Japan today? Was it consistent for a Christian to eat meat that had been sacrificed to idols? Should a convert put away his plural wives? If so, which ones? Were the sensual indulgences that were looked upon as normal by the community to be permitted to followers of the new Way? How about the old class lines; should they persist in the Brotherhood?

Some of these points were non-essential and some were central to the very existence of the new faith. No perplexity of morals or ethics that bewilders a Christian today can compare with the gravity and complexity of the questions that confronted the disciples in the debauched pagan life of old Corinth. The quandary of the girl mentioned in the opening paragraph of this article is the same in kind—but far less in degree—as that of the Corinthian Christians.

The Blasted Trail.
Great central truths were set forth by Paul. What he said to his converts at Corinth is of general applicability today; which is one of the wonders of the inspired word. When we get so worrying about our times let us remember Corinth. Four guiding principles Paul laid down, and those same laws are the very words of today. The first was righteousness; the second was the Christian's power to escape sin; the third was the spirit of unselfish good will, and the fourth was the glory of God as the goal of life.

1. Know ye not that the unrighteous shall not inherit the kingdom of God? [6:9]

2. "There hath no temptation taken you but such as is common to man; but God is faithful, who will not suffer you to be tempted above that ye are able; but will with the temptation also make a way to escape, that ye may be able to bear it." [10:13]

3. "Let no man seek his own, but every man another's wealth." [10:24]

4. "Whether therefore, ye eat, or drink, or whatsoever ye do do all to the glory of God." [10:31]

Our misty-minded day should know that there is no fog in the Bible's teaching about sheer righteousness. Whether sin is fashionable or not it is always wrong. Over and over again we are told that Christ died in order that men might live holy lives. In the Bible's clear teaching there is no "spirituality" apart from morality. Nobody who knowingly continues in sin is a disciple of Jesus. Paul's words rang out insistent upon this note.

Then the great apostle also laid down the foundation principle of our modern prohibition of liquor and drugs. Nobody is free to do as he may please if his pleasure interferes with the common welfare. The state of Maine will not let me build a fire in the forest, even though I may be a careful and experienced woodsman because the practice of woods' fires has wrought great harm to the commonwealth. The individual's pleasure is subordinated in every civilized community to the common good.

The spirit of these words written to a group of weak-kneed Christians in old Corinth nearly two thousand years ago, is the only spirit that can guide individuals and nations into the new world order.

James H. Eymon Tuesday afternoon went to Cardington to open the safe damaged in the fire of the Hildebrand & Gates grocery Sunday afternoon. The heat from the fire had warped the safe and one of the men, in an attempt to force the door, had twisted the knob off. The records were not damaged.

WHY PICK ON US?

People ask us every day, "When will prices be back to pre-war levels?"

WILL THEY? YES, THEY SURELY WILL

WHEN hard coal is back to $9.00 a ton.
WHEN railroad fares are back at 2 cents a mile.
WHEN a modern house in Marion rents for $15.00 a month.
WHEN gasoline is back at 10 cents a gallon.
WHEN a good meal is back at a quarter.
WHEN a shave is back at 10 cents.
WHEN street car fare is back at a nickel.
WHEN money is back at 5 per cent.
WHEN hair cuts are back at a quarter.
WHEN movies are back at a dime.
WHEN a newspaper is back at a penny.
WHEN freight rates come down out of the sky.

WHY expect the manufacturer, wholesaler and retailer to do it all? Why expect US and NO ONE ELSE? Are we not all in on this proposition? Haven't we got to work it out together? Well then haven't we the manufacturers, the wholesalers and the retailers gone much farther than the average in making readjustments?

We Certainly Have

We are way ahead. Now let the Railroads and the Movie Houses and the Street Cars and the Standard Oil and the Soft Drink Parlors and the Landlords and the Hotels and the Barbers and the Restaurants and the Bankers and the Baker and the Candlestick makers catch up with us. It is time for us to pick on somebody.

The retailer has been made the FISH ever since the war began

Now to show you that we have been doing our share, we will quote you the peak war prices and the prices at the present on a number of articles:

is made with jointless leg bottom and base, which makes it air-tight below the grate, which is the only true fire-keeping principle. It will be as good a firekeeper in twenty years hence as it is today.

The "Florence"

will heat twice the space at one-half the cost of operating the ordinary heater. The Florence burns soft coal or slack and all the smoke and gases. No filling up of the pipe or flue with soot. No dirt inside or outside the house. Will burn hard coal and all the gases which escape from a hard coal base-burner. It will produce one-half less ashes than the ordinary stove with any kind of fuel and leave no clinkers or half-consumed fuel.

No Smoke! No Dust! No Dirt! No Clinkers!

EVERYTHING IS CONSUMED

At the end of a season's use with soft coal there will be no soot in the pipe.

land, Sept. 14.—It's the old pug, with all his speed, his wisdom of years and the experience gained in many a hard-fought battle that will face Danny at Dunn field near sundown Saturday. If his last workout in public is any criterion, speed is there and the power and his blows. This he demonstrated when he fought fast rounds with his partners at his camp on the road, before several hundred eyes, Tuesday afternoon. The question left unanswered as to whether he can last twelve rounds is, can he last twelve? Just to judge by what he and his friends, it would be a bet to say that he has the staying power, for he appeared hardly tired after his workout, although he got from the boys he with was anything but easy.

VELOCK ON SPORTS

Philadelphia, Sept. 14.—Johnston, Williams? Who will it be? The national law tennis tournament closed to the final round. These three players stood out from the survivors, as had been expected and it was all but a certainty that the championship lay between Johnston and Williams. Johnston was the favorite over his American rival, but critics were divided over the Johnston-Tilden match. In addition to the matches already played, there was the Wallace-Howard-Kinsey match and a match between Gordon Lowe, of England, and Stanley Pearson, of Philadelphia, scheduled for the evening.

Johnston and Jim Anderson are the foreign players remaining in the tournament.

Motorman Killed by Bandit.
 Toledo, Sept. 14.—An armed bandit, identified by police as Frank Dupont, alias Sunny Jim, 28, was killed by the motorman of a streetcar here when Dupont and another man, also armed, attempted to hold up the car. According to Motorman Evans McGilvery, the two bandits opened fire when the conductor of the car resisted efforts to rob him. McGilvery, still in the vestibule of the car, shot Dupont through the chest. He died instantly. The second man escaped.

 Constantinople, Sept. 14.—Advices from the war zone in Asia Minor say the Greek center is hard pressed under renewed attacks by the Turkish Nationalists. The Greeks, however, have not yet retreated across the Sakaria river, but are sending many wounded back over a temporary bridge. It is estimated that the Greeks had 15,000 men put out of action during their recent drive toward Angora. The Turkish Nationalist casualties are placed at 12,000.

 Washington, Sept. 14.—"Summary dismissal" of Dr. Haven Emerson, medical adviser of the United States veterans' bureau, who was quoted as having said in a speech at Columbus, O., that the bureau was "being made the foothill of politics," was announced by Acting Director Leon Frank. Colonel C. B. Forbes, director of the bureau, declared that Dr. Emerson's charge that $500,000 was being used for political patronage "is unqualifiedly false."

 Chicago Sept. 14.—Members of the building construction employers' association are planning to replace all union men who have not returned to work by Thursday morning with non-union workmen. ILLEGAL POSSESSION

OF WHISKY CHARGED
 Richland County Official Found Guilty and Fined.
 Mansfield, O., Sept. 14.—Harold P. McCullough, clerk to the county commissioners, against whom the Richland county grand jury had filed a charge charging him with illegal possession and illegal sale of whisky, was found guilty on three counts and fined $1,000 on each.
 Prosecuting Attorney Allen Resch charged in his argument before Judge Galbreith that whisky was sold in the commissioners' office, but that more was sold in the auditor's office.
 Judge Galbreith remarked during the trial that the public had been led to believe that the $2,500 used by former County Auditor William F. Fisher, now serving a sentence in the Ohio penitentiary, went to buy a home, when the facts were that it was used to buy two barrels of whisky.
 County Surveyor Hoyd Wierman, former Deputy Auditor Charles Huber, both of whom are under indictment in connection with the alleged scandal at the courthouse, and Deputy Surveyor "Gus" Dornan were the three main witnesses for the state against McCullough. They declared that there was a secret cabinet in the commissioners' office from which the whisky was taken and sold. The other commissioners are alleged to have known of the existence of this secret cabinet.
HARDING TO ISSUE FORMAL CALL SOON
 Plans for National Unemployment Conference.
 Washington, Sept. 14.—Formal call for the national unemployment conference in Washington will probably be issued by President Harding soon after his return from New York, administration officials said.
 The plans have been practically completed and have been sent by wireless to the yacht Mayflower so that Mr. Harding can discuss them with Mr. Hoover before the return to Washington.
 A definite date for the conference was said to be still undecided, although Sept. 24 now appeared most probable.
 Acceptances are understood to have been received by Secretary Hoover from the 30 conferees, who will represent the country at the conference. Among those who will attend, it has been indicated, are Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor; John J. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, and Charles M. Schwab, chairman of the Bethlehem Steel corporation. President Harding, it is understood, may open the conference himself.
